

TWENTY-FIVE ARE KILLED, HUNDREDS WOUNDED IN CHICAGO RACE RIOTS

FUEL IS TO BE PROBED BY STATE QUEST

"Big Five" Packers Charged With Control of Principal Stock Yards.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

COLUMBUS, July 29.—The meeting of the county prosecutors from all the 88 counties of Ohio called for tomorrow afternoon by Attorney General Price at the suggestion of Governor Cox is expected to deal not only with food prices, but the high cost of living generally.

Representatives from the mining districts, particularly the Hocking Valley, will bring stories, it is said, of lack of work in the mines, due in some instances to car shortage, but principally because of the hesitancy of domestic consumers to lay in their winter supply of coal. Practically the only coal mined in Ohio now is said to be for the lake trade and for railroad fuel.

A representative of the Ohio mine owners yesterday urged a state commission to encourage burning of Ohio coal.

The state utilities commission, acting upon complaint that throttling has been stopped in some sections and mines were not operating because of car shortage, has wired Walter D. Hines, director general of railroads, to supply more grain cars. Inspectors were sent into the mining districts to investigate the reported shortage of coal cars.

Springfield implement manufacturers have applied to the utilities commission for 100 cars with which to ship their products.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Manipulation of the livestock market through control of market yards and practical monopoly in the buying of livestock was charged against the "big five" packers—Swift, Armour, Morris, Cudahy and Wilson—in the third section of the federal trade commission's report on the packing industry just made public.

The report cited data obtained in the commission's investigation to show that the "big five" hold a majority of voting stock in 23 of the principal stockyards of the country and an interest in the remaining 23.

Wilson to Speak At Columbus on Way to Pacific

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Columbus has been decided upon tentatively by President Wilson to be his stopping place in Ohio for an address on his way to the Pacific coast.

Cincinnati and Cleveland were considered when the presidential itinerary was arranged, but it was decided that the route should cross the center of the state. Final plans will not be made for a few days, however.

The president will reach San Francisco August 15. This would bring engagement in Columbus August 6 or 7. The Ohio speech, it is said, may be the first important one of his tour.

SOLDIER SEEKS DIVORCE.

PINDLAY, July 29.—Alleging that his wife after she had learned that he had been wounded while in France seemed to regret that she had married him, Harley A. Drake brought suit for divorce from Gladys E. Drake in common pleas court here.

REWARD FOR VILLA.

EL PASO, Tex., July 29.—Governor Andres Ortiz, of the state of Chihuahua, has offered a reward of $25,000 for the capture, dead or alive, of Francisco Villa, according to a Mexico merchant who was here today from Chihuahua City. He said the offer appeared in an advertisement in one of the Chihuahua City newspapers.

Noted Britons and American Who May Be Prominent at Trial of the Ex-Kaiser

Sir Gordon Hewart.

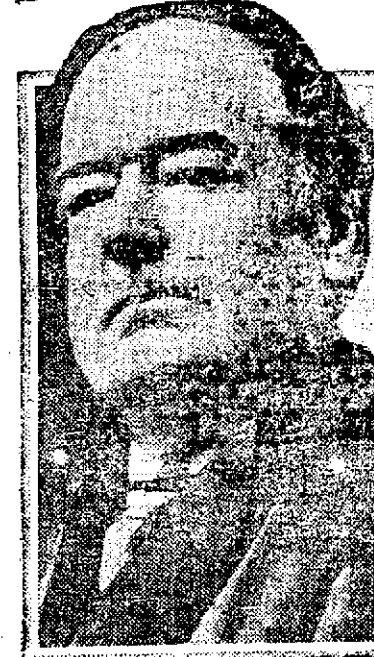

Lord Sumner.

If the ex-kaiser is brought to trial these three men may have a prominent part in determining his guilt in connection with atrocities committed by Germans on land and sea. London dispatches state that Lord Sumner, one of England's leading attorneys, has been selected as president of the inter-allied court to try the former German ruler and a number of German officials. Sir Gordon Hewart, solicitor general of Great Britain, will head the prosecution, and London believes that Chief Justice White is the logical choice of the United States as a representative at the tribunal.

BROWNS IN MAD RIVER.

DAYTON, July 29.—Casper Antel, 14 years old, son of John Antel, molder, living at 8 East Monument avenue, drowned in Mad river while swimming with a number of companions. His body was recovered.

Chief Justice White.

MEXICAN GENERALS GETTING RICH CAUSE OF TROUBLE ACROSS BORDER

GALVESTON, Tex., July 29.—El Heraldo de Mexico, published in Mexico City, in a recent issue says in an editorial in English under the caption "Why Villa is still free to murder."

"Incidents as shameful as the American punitive expedition in Juarez—which cause us to hide our face to keep us from showing our mingled gratitude and humiliation—what are they but the crowning touch to a long series of corrupt and badly managed operations? It would be unjust in this case to blame the government. The government is sparing no expense to pacify the districts in arms against it; the government takes even the most sacred money and gives it to the generals. And the generals, how do they answer to the country's trust? Do they do their duty in conquering the rebels? For several years now Villa has been at large in Chihuahua and it is not Carranza or the government who is responsible, but the generals in charge of the campaign and their chiefs of staff and field officers.

"We are not thinking of any general in particular, but the fact is, none the less true. The country is longing for order and peace; the government both in its own interest and for the public good is doing its share toward pacifying the nation. Nevertheless the nation is not being pacified. The nation sees it; we all see it; and at the same time we see that certain generals are buying palaces, or estates, that others are increasing their number of automobiles and horses, and wanting money in a hundred ways. Are these generals getting rich through private business? Then they can't be paying much attention to the campaign. And that is why the rebellion is growing. Are they getting rich through the war? Then they are making bad use of the funds entrusted to them, and that is why the rebellion is growing.

"For these reasons, we repeat our opinion that the pacification of the nation is merely a question of honesty."

TAFT IN RACE FOR PRESIDENT; HARDING OPPOSED IN OHIO

WASHINGTON, July 29.—That former President William H. Taft may be considered to be in the race for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1920 and to be seeking the aid of the Ohio delegation as against Senator Warren G. Harding is said to be indicated by his letter to Chairman Will H. Hays, of the republican national committee in which he advocates six reservations to the League of Nations covenant.

The Harding men are anxious to commit Ohio in advance to the Senator's candidacy. Representative Henry I. Emerson of Cleveland, desires an immediate endorsement of the Senator by the Ohio delegation. He has sent to each of his republican colleagues in the house a letter, in which he says:

"Something must be done to save Ohio for the republican party next year. I am in favor of Senator Harding for the republican nomination. Ohio can be redeemed if the republican congressmen from Ohio will assist an Ohio candidate."

Ex-Kaiser Pleads For Chapel at Posen Palace

LONDON, July 29.—The Berlin newspapers say that the former German emperor has written to the Archbishop of Posen asking him to preserve the Protestant chapel at Posen Castle for Protestant services and not to convert it to Catholic uses.

The former monarch said that it would be undesirable to him to have Roman Catholic services celebrated in the chapel, into which he had put his whole soul and in which he prayed for victory for Germany.

FRANCO-U. S. TREATY GOES TO SENATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) WASHINGTON, July 29.—President Wilson's message to the senate today accompanying the Franco-American treaty follows:

Gentlemen of the senate: I take pleasure in laying before you a treaty with the republic of France, the object of which is to secure that republic the immediate aid of the United States of America in case of any unprovoked movement of aggression against her on the part of Germany. I earnestly hope that the treaty will meet with your cordial approval and will receive an early ratification at your hands, along with the treaty of peace with Germany. Now that you have had an opportunity to examine the great document I presented to you two weeks ago, it seems opportune to lay before you this treaty which is meant to be in effect a part of it.

It was signed on the same day with the treaty of peace and is intended as a temporary supplement to it. It is believed that the treaty of peace with Germany itself provides adequate protection to France against aggression from her recent enemy on the east; but the years immediately ahead of us contain many incalculable possibilities. The covenant of the league of nations provides for military action for the protection of its members only upon advice of the council of the league; advice given, it is to be presumed, only upon deliberation and acted upon by each of the governments of the member states only if its own judgment justifies such action. The object of the special treaty with France which I now submit to you, is to provide for immediate military assistance to France by the United States in case of any unprovoked movement of aggression against her by Germany without waiting for the advice of the council of the league of nations that such action will be taken. It is to be an arrangement, not independent of the league of nations, but under it.

It is therefore expressly provided that this treaty shall be made the subject of consideration at the same time with the treaty of peace with Germany; that this special arrangement shall receive the approval of the council of the league; and that this special provision for the safety of France shall remain in force only until, upon the application of one of the parties to it, the council of the league, acting, if necessary by a majority vote, shall agree that the pro-

15,000 CARMEN ON CHICAGO CITY LINES ON STRIKE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) CHICAGO, July 29.—Fifteen thousand street railway employees went on strike for higher wages at 4 o'clock this morning, completely tying up the surface and elevated systems of the city.

The companies made no attempt to run cars and workers depended on steam railways, automobiles and other vehicles to reach their places of business. Early last night heads of the unions and officials of the street railway companies reached an agreement to fix the wages of the men at approximately 65 cents an hour, and grant an eight hour day with time and a half for over time. It was thought this action would avert a walkout, but at a mass meeting shortly before midnight the men repudiated an agreement and employees voted to strike at 4 a. m. today. The employees demand 85 cents an hour, an increase of 77 per cent. over present wages, an eight hour day and time and a half for over time.

TOLEDO PLANT VALUED.

COLUMBUS, July 29.—The state public utilities commission today announced the valuation placed upon the hot water heating plant of the Toledo Railway and Light company. This valuation is to be based in determining hot water rates in Toledo for next winter. The commission placed the reproductive value at $1,659,321.23; depreciation at $251,522.74; and present value at $798,766.49.

Disorder Is Keeping Up Today all Over the City; 4,000 Troops on Duty in Effort to Quell Disturbance

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 29.—Race rioting spread outside the South Side negro district today. There was serious fighting and shooting in the loop early in the forenoon. The exclusive North Side residential district received a touch of disorder.

Killings continued after daybreak, bringing the number of dead, in police reports, up to 25 by mid-forenoon and hundreds were injured. The police had under investigation three other reported killings. The list of 25 included 14 whites and 11 negroes.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Four thousand soldiers with full war equipment stood ready today to quell the race rioting between whites and negroes that during two nights of terror in the south side black belt and early today cost the lives of at least 22 men, including one negro policeman and the injury to hundreds of others. Of this number 13 were whites and nine negroes.

Last night's death list totalled twenty, while one negro was killed early today upon a downtown corner and a street car conductor (white) was killed near the stock yards.

A hundred thousand negroes and an equal number of whites either fought in the streets and alleys or cowered in their homes while shots were fired, mounted policemen galloped along the boulevards, patrol wagons dashed through the streets with prisoners and wounded, women and children screamed as men fought with cudgels, knives and fists.

When the rioting, which started Sunday night with the stoning and drowning of a negro who had drifted off a raft into the water of a beach used by whites, broke out afresh last night, Mayor Thompson asked Governor Lowden for troops. The governor who, was on his way to Lincoln, Neb., turned back at Burlington, Iowa, and acting Governor Oglesby gave Adjutant General Dickson orders to mobilize necessary soldiers. By midnight four regiments were in armories on the South Side, but by that time the police had cleared the streets for the night and began collecting the dead and injured and rounding up looters.

Taste For Blood The taste of blood Sunday night whetted the appetites of hundreds of adventurous persons who had long grieved at the rapid influx of negroes, who have spread over a large territory formerly constituting a fine residential quarter of the South Side. Property had decreased in value and whites had migrated to other parts of the city by thousands but many others had clung to their homes while the streets and one of the large parks became thronged with negroes.

Both parties to the contest, enraged by the stories of cruelty of the other, during Sunday night's melee, deliberately armed themselves last night and went out to stalk their prey. In some cases negroes in automobiles dashed through the streets firing at any whites encountered. In other cases whites attacked the buildings occupied by negroes, shooting through windows and doors while the inmates fired back from barricades. Bands of both races marched through the streets and meeting, fought battles that ceased only when the pavement was covered with dead and wounded, or the mounted police had spurred their horses through the mass.

Many individual fights, hand to hand struggle with knives and razors added to the casualties. Men and women were dragged from street cars until the company stopped running them through the affected area. In one instance a band of whites passing a mansion on Grand Boulevard and resenting the occupancy of the place by blacks was fired on from the house. As the night wore on and the bands of terrorists were broken up by the policemen looters and incendiaries appeared. Several houses were fired. A number of stores were broken open and sacked. Toward daylight the less aggressive, having been driven to cover, worn out with fighting or jailed, a number of white rioters invaded the downtown quarter, beat negroes found on the street and dragged covering porters from all night restaurants and hotels to the streets, joggling them unmercifully.

Soldiers Wounded Among those injured during the night were three members of the seventh regiment who were beset by negroes while on the way to their armory. Corporal W. T. Riggs, was shot in the back; Charles T. Williams was shot in the side and J. N. Rinkus was slashed with a razor. Manfred Haynes was found probably fatally beaten, presumably by negroes. An automobile containing Adjutant General Dickson was fired on but without damage to the occupants.

An exodus of negroes to the north and west sides began as the fighting was at its height. Some 50,000 more negroes already live in those parts of the city and the police took precautions to stop any resentment shown by whites at the added population of Africans. This began was stopped at daybreak by the street car strike.

Penned In Homes A few whites were penned in their homes by angry negroes and had to telephone for police aid to escape. One family managed to elude the negroes by blacking their faces and departing in disguise. But aside from a few such instances, persons living in or near the war zone were unmolested physically, if they remained within their domiciles. The various affairs owed their initiative about equally to the two races, although the Caucasians seemed to be the prime aggressors, the Africans starting their assaults more as counter-offensives. Most of the white rioters were young men and youths with here and there a man of mature years. The police devoted much of their activity to clearing the streets of negroes, and many of the fatalities resulted from the recalcitrancy of the blacks against the order to disperse. In one crowd at 35th street and State street, former Alderman De Priest, a negro was with a crowd of blacks ordered to scatter. They refused despite the pleading of the former alderman and two negro police sergeants and the officers fired into the assembly, killing four and barely missing De Priest. LIMA IS NOW FACING DREADED ICE FAMINE

EXTREME LENGTH OF HOT SEASON CAUSES A GREAT SHORTAGE

Consumers Are Limited to Supply Every Other Day By New Order

SUPPLY IS NOT LARGE

Conservation Necessary to Prevent a Serious Situation Here

Unless Lima people conserve their ice supply as much as possible for the next few weeks, there is a possibility that an ice famine will occur. If the extremely warm weather keeps up, according to H. W. Keeler, general manager of the Crystal Ice company, the company has a large working force day and night, and is manufacturing ice practically all of the time, but the demands this summer have been greater than any season for many years past.

Must Conserve.
The company has an extra large supply of ice on hand at the present time and with careful usage, it will probably last throughout the remainder of the hot weather. But if people are not careful of their supplies and are always asking for more it would be used up within several weeks. Each family is now limited to 25 pounds every other day.

Cut Supply.
The ice company is willing to furnish ice to consumers a certain amount every day or every other day, but cannot afford to give out supplies several times a day, as the supply would be used up in a very short time. The company requests that Lima citizens help them as much as possible by conserving in their usage of ice and the probability of an ice famine will be greatly lessened.

May Keep Up.
It is almost a certainty that this weather will keep up during the month of August and possibly September, so that if people do not conserve, Lima is liable to find itself without any ice on hand by the end of a few weeks. The condition here has been exceptionally good, despite the fact that the extra warm weather commenced in May and has kept up ever since. In many of the larger cities including Cleveland, Akron and Columbus there are facing an ice famine at the present time with no relief in sight.

O. E. OFFICIALS SAY STRIKE DOES NOT AFFECT CITY LIGHT

Officials of the Ohio Electric Railway company Tuesday denied the statement that the strike is the cause of the lights in the city being out. It is cited by them that line-men while working for the company had nothing to do with the efficiency of street lights. They say were the strike the cause of the lines being down, there would be no lights along an entire street. As it is now, the lights are out only in certain sections of the city, and then only a few of the lights, and not the majority.

The officials say it is extremely hard to get men whose vocations are known as lamp trimming, and efforts are being made to get men. In the meanwhile they say the company is doing the best it can under the circumstances.

The strike situation remains practically at a standstill. The workers are confident they are going to win the strike sooner or later, but officials of the company declare it is not able to meet the demands of the workers. It is understood all electric lines on the Lima division of the O. E. are in good condition and no great inconvenience has been experienced as a result of the strike.

Poor Picker.
They were discussing the raising of children at the chamber of commerce show recently and Dr. Maude Wiley, in charge of the Welfare league, told an amusing story. Seems the little girl had been spanked by her father for disobeying. With tears running down her cheeks she ran to her mother, crying "I think papa's perfectly horrid. Was he the only man you could get?"

PRESIDENT SUBMITS FRENCH TREATY

visions of the covenant of the league afford her sufficient protection.

I was moved to sign this treaty by considerations which will, I hope, seem as persuasive and as irresistible to you as they seemed to me. We are bound to France by ties of friendship which we have always regarded, and shall always regard, as peculiarly sacred. She assisted us to win our freedom as a nation. It is seriously to be doubted whether she could have won it without her gallant and timely aid. We have recently had the privilege of assisting in driving enemies, who were also enemies of the world, from her soil, but that does not pay our debt to her. Nothing can pay such a debt. She now desires that we should promise to lend our great force to keep her safe against the power she has had most reason to fear. Another great nation volunteers the same promise. It is one of the fine reversals of history that that other nation should be the very power from whom France sought to set us free. A few days has dawned. Old antagonisms are forgotten. The common cause of freedom and enlightenment has created new comradeships and a new perception of what is wise and necessary for great nations to do to free the world of intolerable fear. The governments who wish to be members of the league of nations ask leave of the council of the league to be permitted to go to the assistance of a friend whose situation has been found to one of peculiar peril, without awaiting the advice of the league to act.

It is by taking such pledges as this that we prove ourselves faithful to the utmost to the high obligations of gratitude and tested friendship. Such an act as this seems to me one of the proofs that we are a people that sees the true heart of duty and prefers honor to its own separate course of peace.

25 ARE KILLED IN RACE RIOTS

Belt" ascribed the trouble to the "hoodlumism" of negroes who came to Chicago during the last two years to make up the shortage in labor caused by the war. He said his experience showed that the older residents sanely refrained from such clashes, having become accustomed to the freedom allowed to blacks without turning it into license.

During the night hospitals in the region became filled and doctors were all overworked caring for the injured. A negro corpse was taken into the establishment of a white undertaker, and soon a crowd threatened to attack the place. News of this spread and thereafter dead negroes would not be accepted by white mortuaries.

Three Capital Crimes.
"When I was a boy," states Mr. Patch in Stockton Herald, "there were three capital crimes—murder, blasphemy, and lying abed in the morning. Of the three, murder and blasphemy might sometimes be forgiven, but lying never. One of my grandfathers frequently got up at four o'clock on a winter morning, built a fire in the cook stove and then would sit down by it and go to sleep."—Kansas City Times.

Untying the Knot.
There is a marriage custom among the Santals, a tribe in India, by which, after a cash price has been set on the bride by the parents, the fiance and his lady tie a knot in a string for each day to intervene before the wedding. Then the parents separate; day by day a knot is untied, and when the end of the string is reached the real knot is tied that makes the couple one.

Ways of Young Sparrows.
After the young sparrows leave the nest, they gather in flocks, which with other flocks return every night to the same roosting place, writes Frank W. Chapman, in "Our Winter Birds." Sometimes this is in a densely-foliated tree, at others in ivy or other vines. The birds all seem to have much to say as they retire, and chatter together in a chorus which is fortunately hushed by the approach of dawn.

Volcanoes in Britain.
The two great centers of earthquake activity in the British Isles are Cornish, in Perthshire, and Mersea Island, in the mouth of the Blackwater, on the Essex coast. In both these localities earthquakes are frequent, and earthquakes are usually a sign of volcanic activity. Highly unpleasant as it would be, geologists would be no more surprised at the resurrection of one of the British volcanoes than they have been at the rebirth of Mount Etna.

When Pershing Comes Back

THERE IS LITTLE doubt but that a grateful nation will heap merited honors upon General John J. Pershing, who led the American Expeditionary Forces in France. One of these days this international military figure is going to come back to his home country with a record for achievement few have made who have preceded him. Friends have worried not a little as to what kind of rank will be given General Pershing when he retires as leader of the A. E. F. It is, therefore, a matter of much satisfaction that the secretary of war assures the country General Pershing will not be reduced to his regular army rank of major general. His present commission was designed to fit an emergency and give him equality with other allied commanders.

There is a suspicion he may ask for retirement and if he does congress will doubtless pass legislation making him a general, for life and giving him the full pay and allowances of that rank.

On the subject of his future General Pershing himself has remained silent.

An Abandoned Railway Utilized

A MISSOURI railway was abandoned some months ago—a short affair that was never able to pay expenses, and which was junked in the matter of economy and because nobody could be found to undertake its operation. The rails and ties were removed, the stations torn down and the weeds started to grow along the right of way.

Then, somebody with a practical idea proposed to turn it into a public highway. There was an abundance of crushed stone to make a good foundation and the grade was established, so it didn't cost a great deal to improve it until it became the best road in the county and is now serving a more useful purpose than it served as a railway. More freight and more passengers are transported over it in automobiles than were ever hauled over it in railroad cars.

We know of few railroads in this part of the world that will ever be abandoned, unless it is some of the traction lines, but the Missouri case is well to keep in mind. When the railroads cease to pay as such, we may be sure they can be made to pay as automobile roads by properly improving them. Stranger things have happened in this old world than that enterprises which seemed the very height of accomplishment have later become obsolete.

Republican "Economy"

PRESIDENT WILSON'S veto of the appropriation for rehabilitation of war cripples, on the ground that it was far insufficient to meet the needs of the service, finds sincere approval every place in America.

It will be recalled that the Republicans in house and senate slashed down the amount asked for by many millions of dollars and it was then loudly proclaimed that a great saving had been made by the Republicans. The American people do not want economy of this kind. The administration of President Wilson is proceeding along splendid lines in its effort to train wounded soldiers, sailors and marines, so that they may earn their own livelihoods. The government is also supporting these men while their course of training lasts. There are thousands now being trained and thousands more are on the way. It requires a vast expenditure but in the end is economy because these boys will not become public charges; yet if it were not economy there is no one who will say a word against such a humanitarian purpose for those who suffered that liberty and freedom might prevail throughout the world.

The Republican leaders are continuing their penurious attitude toward these war heroes and while Democrats have forced them to increase the appropriation by several million dollars they have refused to allot the amount needed.

Economy that is real will find applause throughout the nation but the kind that is being practiced at Washington now by crippling the beneficial functions of the government, will bring nothing but condemnation.

After-The-War Prosperity

ACCORDING TO the reports, England is enjoying an after-war prosperity such as she never dreamed of enjoying. The people have more money than they have ever had before, and are spending it more lavishly. Indeed, this reckless expenditure of money is noted by the Britishers themselves as an evil omen, for the thoughtful can not see the riotous disregard for money that is displayed without misgivings. As Jerome K. Jerome sizes it up:

"Our luxury trades have trebled their dividends. Our treaters are crammed. Outside the doors of our restaurants well dressed men and women wait in lines. As railway fares increase, the mania for traveling grows. The cost of living has doubled, but everybody is having the time of his life."

Isn't that a pretty good picture of life here in America? Surely the British people are living exactly as thousands are living over here, and it may be set down that the same thing will happen to the American that will happen to the British—whatever that is. No one seems to know how we are going to come out of this extravagant age; the pessimistic are alarmed, the optimistic are cheered, but nobody seems to understand what we are headed for. It will be strange indeed if this period of inflation, this day of extravagance can last. But to find evidence that we shall ever again suffer from hard times is more than even the pessimists are able to do.

HAPPY THOUGHT: We wonder how the clove business is coming on since the advent of prohibition.

Time now for the Chamber of Commerce to ask the Prince of Wales to visit Lima while on his tour of America. We can show him the greatest river in the world, the only one never deodorized, and a Republican city administration that stands in a class all its own.

While on the witness stand Henry Ford didn't turn out to be much of a student of American history, but as a knicker of flivvers and money, he will carry our bets against the fellows who are.

GOOD EVENING—About the time the spirit of mortal gets proud, something gets the matter with the carburetor or a tire blows out."

WAYS TO KEEP BABY SAFE FROM SOME WARM WEATHER DANGERS

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

A malady of childhood under any name is a serious thing. If your infant less than three years of age has a little with diarrhoea, dysentery, intestinal "indigestion," enteritis, cholera or summer complaint, do not be polite or handle yourself with kid gloves. Accept the sad truth that is very likely not a visitation of Providence or of the "second summer," but your own foolhardy fault.

Heat hastens the growth of bacteria in the purest milk. Bacteria invade, infect and thrive upon tender tissues of an infant. Too much food or other particles of undigested pabulum irritate the delicate stomach and intestines of the little one. The upshot of this is to open a loop-hole for bacteria.

If you dismiss the matter as unimportant or due to "teething," a little cold, "the heat," "the summer" or some other scapegoat, your little one may be a weakling for life or worse. If, however, you stop the milk for 24 or 48 hours and give only a little albumen water—very little at a time—and have the baby fast, its intestines will be given a rest and very likely help to heal themselves while they destroy the bacteria.

Reduce the Food

The mother who keeps her baby awake "because its so hot" is also guilty at times of initiating these diarrhoeas. No matter how hot the night or day the child is cooler asleep on a clean sheet than kept awake out doors or anywhere else. Loss of sleep and its attendant irritability, need of drinking water, night feeding and eating are mischievous imps and aids to fatal summer troubles.

Mother's milk or, next best, cool, boiled milk and boiled water the daily bath, sleep almost all day and all night up to the baby's third year, regularity by the clock for feeding, avoidance of heavy clothes, soothing syrups, medicine, pacifiers, teething rings, gum hardeners and all such germ-laden abominations will help to prevent the dangerous, expensive and often fatal intestinal troubles of hot weather.

Promptly stop all food the instant more than two bowel movements occur in a day. No matter how much grandma, aunts and the neighbors bewail the fact "that you will starve the child to death," remember that infants have seldom been known to die of starvation even when they fasted a whole week.

What to Feed

Summon at once an alert, strong-willed doctor who will insist that no food be given for a day or two or more. Perhaps he will decide that two teaspoonfuls of castor oil should be administered. This is well, as it helps to lubricate and carry away some of the mischief-making milk microbes.

Plain water, then albumen water, followed by barley water and other weak ration are to be begun after the second day's fast. It may often be necessary to avoid cow's milk or the various dried malted and artificial food milks for four months.

If mother's milk is not available, eat white, meat juice, crushed carrot, orange juice, buttered mashed potatoes, barley gruel and other non-milky substitutes will more than repair all growths and tissue needs of the child.

Finally it is better to have a living baby, a little lean, yet strong and vigorous, than a fat, sickly, weak and seriously ill one. No greater discovery perhaps has ever been made than this one that a day, two or more of starvation will save the lives and health of infants with summer complaints, dysenteries, "colds" or cholera.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

A NOTABLE GOVERNOR'S STAFF

Governor Myron T. Herrick appointed the first really military staff in this state. He refused to follow the long established custom of selecting merely honorary staff members from civil life. He had served in the National Guard and looked at the matter from a military point of view. So he asked the legislature that had been elected on the same ticket with him in 1903 to revise the law. It was done the first week of 1904 and Governor Naah signed the bill. It provided for an adjutant and an assistant of the rank of colonel and 12 aides of rank below that of colonel, all from the list of commissioned officers of the guard. That law still stands.

Under it the new governor selected A. R. Critchfield, 8th infantry, as his adjutant general, and Worthington Kautzman as his assistant, with the following aides, completing the staff: C. C. Weybrecht, 8th infantry; B. L. Barger, 4th infantry; George W. Cunningham, 6th infantry; J. H. Blais, Battery A; Fred M. Fanning, Corps of Engineers; Robert L. Dunning, 1st infantry; Jos. A. Hall, Medical department; Harry D. Knox, 7th infantry; James H. Williams, 5th infantry; Geo. H. Wood, 3rd infantry; Otto Moulton, Troop A, and Harry Moulton, 3rd, infantry. Three of these were called to the position of adjutant general subsequently—Critchfield under Governor Harris, Weybrecht under Harmon and Wood under Cox.

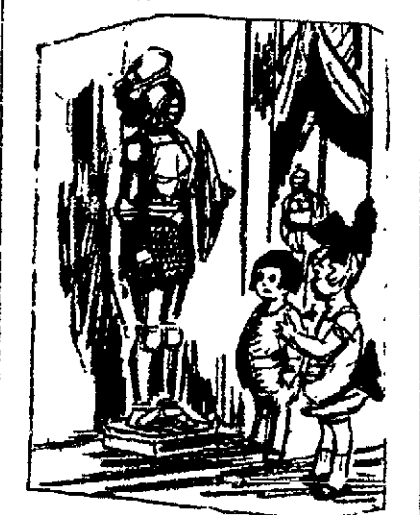

Critchfield served in the Spanish war as captain, and is in the national army now as a major. Kautzman served as a major in the Spanish war and as a captain of volunteers in the Philippines. Weybrecht was an officer in the 8th Ohio in the Spanish war and had just returned from service abroad with the 37th division. Barger served as an officer in the 1st Ohio cavalry in the Spanish war, and is abroad still as an inspector of the 37th division. Cunningham was an officer in the Spanish war and is still with the 37th division in the German war. Blais is dead. Fanning was with the 19th Ohio in the Spanish war and has just returned from foreign service in the German war. Dunning was an officer with the 1st Ohio in the Spanish war. He is now with the Cincinnati police force. Hall served in the medical corps in the war with Spain and in the same capacity with the 37th division in this war. Wood served in the 3rd Ohio in the Spanish and Philippine war and was with the 37th division in the German war. William and Moulton retired from military life some time ago.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT POLKES

The next morning it was raining. So instead of taking the children to the top of the mountain to see the old ruined castle, the king and queen announced at breakfast that they would spend the morning inspecting the rest of the good castle.

You know, the children had been so busy that they hadn't seen all of it as yet. Jack and Jane and Jeanne were taken first to the attic. It was a much bigger room than the attic in your house or mine, of course, because it covered the whole castle, which had forty rooms.

The first things the children spied were the old suits of armor of which the king had told them. If Jack and the girl's hadn't been prepared to see these they would have been startled. The armor itself resembled a man and a whole row of the suits, standing upright along the wall, looked very warlike. Booh, of course, didn't know what to expect, and when he saw what looked like strangers to him, he set up a howl. Jack was afraid for a minute that Booh would attempt to bite one of the suspicious looking things on the leg, and break his teeth.

Now about the armor. The children could see in a minute that it was built to cover a man from head to foot. The king asked one of his servants to climb into one of the suits so that the children could better understand how they were built and how they fitted.

When the attendant finally got the whole suit on, the children could see nothing of him. His head was covered by a huge hood. The hood opened and closed in front just like the jaws of a steel trap. The head piece fastened onto a coat of steel that covered the man's back and front, and ran down to his hips. There were sleeves in it, too, which were built so that they moved in any direction when the man moved his arms. The legs were covered in what looked just like pants made out of the same metal, with joints at the knee. These pants were made so that they fitted to the bottom of the coat part. Two heavy pieces of metal were attached to the bottoms of the legs to lay on top of the feet and protect them. The suit was so heavy that the man could hardly move in it, and they clanked when he stepped about.

"The knights must have been awfully strong men," said Jack.

"They were," said the king. "Only the strongest and bravest men in the country were made knights. They did nothing but protect the king and the country from robbers and bands of invaders."

When the attendant picked up one of the great swords leaning against the wall, the children were amazed at its size. It was almost as tall as the man himself. The blade was heavy and sharp on both edges.

Jack tried to lift the sword himself, and was all he could do to get it off the floor. He remembered that he had been able to march up and down the street in Make-Believe Town with the sword his grandfather had used in the Civil War.

BANKERS APPROVE
W. S. S. CAMPAIGNDeclare Education In Thrift Must Be Continued In Ohio.

PROMISE THEIR ASSISTANCE

Financiers Say War Savings
Stamps Big Aid to the Government.

Columbus, O. (Special).—Ohio bankers have gone on record as favoring the continued sale of War Savings Stamps. At the meeting of the Bankers' Association in Toledo, just concluded, a resolution calling upon Ohio bankers to encourage and assist in the widest distribution of War Savings Stamps was adopted. The resolution also declared that it was essential that education in thrift be continued. The resolution as adopted follows:

"Whereas, during the war period the people of our country have been educated to a habit of systematic thrift in the purchase of War Savings Stamps; and

"Whereas, it is essential that this process of education in thrift be continued and encouraged, therefore,

"Be It Resolved, That it is the sense of the Ohio Bankers' Association that inestimable benefit to both the government and the people is derived from the steady purchase and accumulation of War Savings Stamps; and the association hereby requests its members to encourage and assist in the widest distribution of them."

MORROW COUNTY STILL IS COUNTRY'S LEADER

Columbus, O. (Special).—Morrow county still maintains its record as the leading War Savings Stamp county in Ohio. It is also the banner stamp selling county in the nation. Figures just compiled at War Stamp headquarters put Ashtabula county into second place, with Logan third. Other counties in the first 12 in order of their standing are: Knox, Coshocton, Brown, Warren, Highland, Marion, Fairfield, Clermont and Jackson.

Drives are now being put on in many counties and this standing may be changed. Chairman McMillan of Morrow county, however, maintains that he will lead the nation again this year. He is just starting his summer drive.

VICTORY SHAFT DESIGN IS REPORTED COMPLETE

Artists Declare It Has Classic
Ideal Found Only In Ancient Obelisks.

Columbus, O. (Special).—The design for the Victory Memorial Shaft to be awarded by the Ohio War Savings Committee to the Ohio county selling the largest percentage of its 1919 War Savings quota during June and July and August has been completed. In a letter to War Savings headquarters the Barre Quarriers and Manufacturers' association, donors of the monument, write: "One of our best designers has evolved the Victory Shaft, and in the opinion of many competent judges who have examined the design it combines both simplicity and strength with the classic ideal sought by the builders of the ancient obelisks."

Inasmuch as the War Savings Committee has chosen a granite shaft to be awarded as its trophy the following paragraph from a recent brochure on memorials is quite appropriate:

"Sturdy, impenetrable, eternally appropriate is stone. Let us use it in the immortal manner when we come to commemorate the glory of America's young manhood and the loyalty of those who kept the home fires burning in 1917-18. In the day of small things let us keep the faith."

Columbus' Ill Fate.

On the twentieth of May, 1906, Christopher Columbus died at Valladolid, Spain, at the age of seventy. His whole life had been devoted to exploration and discovery for the aggrandizement of Spain, yet his last years were embittered by the ingratitude shown him by the nation.

Fighting Fire in Chicago Bank Building After Blazing Blimp Crashed Through Skylight, Resulting in Death of 12 Persons.

This photograph shows the smoke rising from the ruined interior of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank building in Chicago after the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company's dirigible Wing Foot Express, which exploded in mid-air, crashed through the skylight. The accident caused the death of twelve persons and the injury of twenty-eight others. Firemen were fighting the flames, fed by the airship's gasoline, when the picture was taken.

WELTY STANDS FOR FARMERS' RIGHT TO VINEGAR MAKING

WASHINGTON, July 29.—It is believed that the vinegar trust had a subtle hand in framing the Prohibition Bill, recently passed by the House, with a view of keeping the farmer from manufacturing his own cider vinegar. At the request of Chairman Volstead of the Judiciary Committee, Congressman Welty, who attempted to amend the bill in the House, has taken the matter up with the members of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, with a view of having the bill amended before its final enactment. The bill as passed by the House makes it unlawful for a farmer to manufacture cider vinegar unless he first obtains a permit from the Federal Government.

U. S. Make Profit

Chairman Good of the Appropriation Committee made a startling statement the other day on the floor of the House, when he informed built during the war are sold at a profit. This seems gratifying when one remembers the high wages for labor and the prices of material during the war, but since the U-boat has destroyed so many ships; it seems that the Federal Government is the only government having ships for sale. Every nation on the face of the earth wanting ships is coming to America, and as a result the Federal Government has made over one hundred million dollars profit in ships built during the war.

Aliens Await Deportation

The war is over and many evidences seem to herald this view in Congressional action. For instance, the Immigration Committee of the last Congress recommended the passage of a bill deporting certain undesirable aliens who offended against some of the war measures passed by the last Congress. About a month ago the Immigration Committee recommender for passage the same bill after some modification.

Last week the Committee again held further hearings with a view of making still more changes before finally risking a fight on the floor of the House. When the deportation bill was first reported by the Immigration Committee, it required a certificate from the attorney general specifying the person interned to be deported; but since the present Attorney General, Mr. Palmer, was property custodian during the war, the committee came to the conclusion that it would be best not to allow the attorney general to pass upon these matters because it might be charged that he was interested in the deportation of aliens whose property had been taken away, and thus endanger the passage of the bill. There are over two thousand undesirable aliens waiting for deportation because all of the ships were being used in the movement of troops during the war, but the Commissioner of Immigration is making arrangements to send these men over in government ships going to Europe, and hopes to be able to thus make up for lost time.

The Department of Agriculture has placed an allotment of 1918 Year books to the credit of Congressman Welty, and the same will be sent out upon request so long as the supply lasts.

WANTS $100,000 FOR LEGS.

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Joseph P. Kraver, of Erie, formerly a New York Central railroad conductor, has sued Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads and the New York Central Railroad Company for $100,000 damages for the loss of his legs in a railroad accident. Kraver avers he was jolted from a car at Erie, Pa., last May because of the careless shunting of another car.

CHALONER IS SANE.

NEW YORK, July 29.—John Armstrong Chaloner won his 29 year fight for the legal establishment of his sanity in New York state today when Supreme Court Justice Ford granted his application for the discharge of the committee of his person and property. The decision confirms Mr. Chaloner's contention that he is a sane and competent person.

POOREST PAID OF U.S. POSTMEN NEVER KICK

Are Native Eskimo Dogs and Get Only Pound and Half of Salmon Daily

WASHINGTON.—There is a good deal of talk over the meager pay received by mail carriers but the most poorly paid of Uncle Sam's mail carriers receive far less than the familiar postman, yet never make complaint. They get a pound and a half of dried salmon for a full day's work.

They are the husky and the Malamute, the native Eskimo and the native Indian dogs in the great Yukon country. Without them the gold seekers, the fur traders, the shopkeepers and the mission workers in the interior of Alaska (except for the more fortunate ones who live along the lines of the few railroads) would receive no mail from the time the ice forms over the rivers in October until it breaks up in May.

Even the most inaccessible of post-offices receive mail once a month in winter (though only letter mail is carried then) and for those in interior of Alaska (except for the more Malamute are mail carrier and Santa Claus combined. They would be without word from the outside world for 8 months every year if it were not for the mail dogs.

These animals are pushed to their utmost by considerable and cruel driver alike, for there is prescribed task for them every day, and all they get out of it is the pound and half of dried salmon at the end of the day.

When they are not working their allowance of fish is cut down. In the summer they are fed on the refuse of fresh salmon at the fishing dumps, where the mail contractor boards them out until the rivers freeze again.

For the Farmer

Wheat Harvest Shows Unexpected Conditions.

Farmers are disappointed with the quality and also with the yield of wheat in many sections.

Stinking smut is so generally distributed throughout the western half of the state that a crop entirely free from it is rather rare. This smut reduces the price for wheat that in other respects would grade as No. 1 or No. 2.

Smutted wheat cannot be made into first grade flour by the average flour mill. Therefore, the stinking smut condition in Ohio is becoming alarming. It may be controlled to a large extent by seed treatment.

In most cases the rather unexpected low yield is caused by scab, although the season has had some effect on the large proportion of straw in some fields.

The moisture content of new wheat is unusually low, due to the remarkably dry weather during the ripening period of wheat.

Farmers' Profits Less During 1918 Than 1917.

After summarizing a large number of farmers' account books in various counties of the state, Mr. R. F. Taber, farm management demonstrator of the Ohio State university, says it is apparent that the farmers of the state as a class did not make as high incomes in 1918 as in 1917.

This, he says, was partly due to low yields of corn and wheat, but largely due to the fact that the increase in receipts did not keep up with the increase in expense.

Thirty-five second year records of Huron county farmers compared with records for the same farmers for 1917 showed an increase in gross receipts of 3 per cent and of gross expenses of 19 per cent. This heavy increase in expense resulted in a decrease in the net incomes of about 10 per cent. Mr. Taber states that during 1918 labor, feeds, fertilizers, etc., made tremendous increases in values, sufficient to cut down the farm profits quite materially.

Boy's and Girls' Club Work Recognized by State Fair

The work of the boys and girls in the clubs regularly organized and recognized by the department of boys and girls club work of the Ohio State university is shown a marked recognition in the liberal products of the big poultry, clothing and food clubs. Also prizes are offered for club team work in canning demonstrations to be given at the fair.

Club members who wish to exhibit or take part in the demonstrations should write immediately to W. H. Palmer, State Club leader, Ohio State university.

She knows how the poor suffer because she has suffered with them. Suburban Day Shopping Hope

(By the Casual Observer)

HAT was a popular and timely compliment paid the Lima merchants by a writer in the TIMES-DEMOCRAT one day last week—I refer to the item telling of the attractiveness of the downtown show windows, and how the shoppers both from the country and the city, seem to appreciate them. Whatever else may be said of the factors that bring success in merchandising, and however much certain tactics of enterprising shopmen may be extolled it is admitted by those best qualified to know, that there is absolutely nothing in the way of an introduction to a man's store of more pecuniary value to him than a clear, bright, well arranged show window and plenty of light on the inside.

A striking demonstration of these two essentials was made in Cincinnati nearly two score years ago.

Up to that time the drug store of the Queen City was but a place to buy medicines and get prescriptions filled; and it was always designated by a couple of more or less bottles filled with green or red coloring matter. Then came Miss Cora Dow with some progressive ideas, and putting about six times as much light on both outside and inside of her store, which rapidly grew into about one new one each six months and relegating the big colored bottles to the cellar, filled her windows with wonderful story telling pictures of toilet things and appurtenances for improving health and strength. It was a revelation.

When she died about five years ago, there were twelve big Dow drug stores doing the business of the city and southern Ohio and northern Kentucky. Now these stores are managed along the same lines by a big syndicate, and continue to be the wonder of the mercantile community.

A Ballad of Orchard Lake

'Twas a Thursday afternoon. The day was bright and fair. The island Mermaids, a lovely throng of comely sprites, of whose lure the merry poet writes, frilled and fussed their luxuriant hair until it shone like burnished gold. Lima's Apollo Polychromes, the bosses one hundred strong—bade adieu to trade and home, and joined the flivver throng. 'Twas a gleesome crowd, I'm told. At Orchard Isle, the boys with modish men and cars, kept away from the thirty mermaids—they of the golden hair. But they do say, alas; that only 18 husky gents, (in play on the Orchard lawn) knocked flies out o'er the fence. And at another point near by, (jelly men of retail trade,) only 25 or 30 more did pitch those horse shoes in the shade.

But what of the other 50, do? who rigged mine host Terr's preserves. Alack! they sought the cooling waters (and the mermaids' lovely curves). At least, that's what some ladies said, who'd rather lave, in the lake's cool wave, in forcing suits of red, than see a hundred games of ball. Ah, well, life's a fickle jade. The jolly men of portly frame, the one with spindly Szechonka, also he who's pointed out, as flatly stout, and the fattest of the fat—the Gargantuan Franks are but planning how to get and keep Allen County's Suburban trade.

Wonder how many Lima people realize just what the Lima shop men are up against in certain ways that would seem to the lay mind to be trivial, but which have a menace to their victims. For instance it would seem a somewhat simple problem to have your store swept out at the close of the day's trade, wouldn't it; even if you had to hire some good fellow to stop in an hour after closing time and do it?

That is what one store keeper did last week. His janitor was off on the annual vacation. He employed a husky fellow to drop in and sweep out. After about the third sweeping, the h. f. accosted the proprietor thusly:

"Say, boss, I'd like my pay; ah need some money."

"All right, replied the proprietor: I'll give you some on account, how much do you want?"

"Two dollars an evening, sah."

"What's that," asked the store man, thinking he had not heard right. "You mean two dollars for the three evenings, I suppose."

"No, ah, mean just what I said. Two dollars for each evening."

"But you weren't more than an hour doing the sweeping."

"That's all right—I want two dollars an evening—their's my terms now; two dollars an hour for special work."

As a matter of fact the average shopkeeper is shocked at every turn these days of high finance. Unskilled artisan who is difficult to replace; and he is very arrogant about it. Many Lima storekeepers say that it is very difficult to secure such help as truckdrivers, warehousemen, janitors and the like: unskilled labor that a few years ago was glad to have a job at a living wage, and nursed it when they did get one. Now this class seem to be the most difficult to manage, asking pay entirely out of proportion to that given skilled employees, and affecting the most arbitrary habits even when paid the tremendous wages they demand.

Reports from New York and the eastern markets indicate that there is a very remarkable situation existing in the matter of prices of dress goods and material such as sheetings, linens and fabrics employed in dress making. One owner from a big Lima house wrote back that prices on these goods were advancing by leaps and bounds and advised that the house demand shipment at once of all orders contingent on such goods, and urge haste. He predicted that retail prices on everything in this line would advance steadily and that by fall we would see the highest prices the world has ever known for such things.

Every shopkeeper member of the Suburban Day Trade Association is advised of this condition in the eastern markets and is getting in everything he can get his hands on in the way of shipments.

Undoubtedly the Lima merchants will make this a big point in their announcements for the last of the July clearance sales for tomorrow. It will be an opportunity that buyers will probably never see again; for experts say that the normal price level has not even been reached yet notwithstanding the sporadic efforts of the state and governmental authorities to curb profiteering.

"I'll meet you in town on Wednesday." This is now a common salutation over the telephone among the farmers whose homes are connected up in the different townships. And one is surprised to learn how many of them there are in Allen county.

Gradually the Lima Telephone & Telegraph company is connecting up new territory—the lines formerly conducted under the commonwealth plan.

Until really but a few months ago, a farmer in Perry township was unable to communicate with his friend or a relative in Sugar Creek, except at great cost of time and money, and even then connections were secured with great difficulty.

It is expected that, tomorrow, the last of the July Wednesday, will see a big crowd of suburban folks in Lima, because the most of them have finished their hay making and even their harvesting.

One thrifty owner of a farm south-east of Lima one day last week laid off long enough to ship 45 head of hogs which brought him in the tidy little check of $1800.00.

PLEADS GUILTY TO FORGERY CHARGE

When arraigned in police court Tuesday morning on a charge of uttering a forged American Railway Express company money order, Harry, 36, New York City, pleaded guilty, and was bound over to the grand jury under $2,500 bond. The man was arrested in Toledo Friday at the instance of local police and was returned to this city Monday night.

The money order which was cashed at the local office by Burke is alleged to have been stolen from the Chicago office some time ago. Burke denies he stole the order, but says it was given to him by a man who stated they would go fifty-fifty with what ever Burke received on the order.

LOVELY FROCKS, TRANSLATED FROM IMPORTED MODELS IN CHARMING FABRICS

Simple Effects Offer Unerring Suggestions of What to Expect for Fall—In the Latest Groups Serges Lead, Smart Materials with Tricotine Following Closely—Interesting Variations of the Ever-Acceptable Tunic Blouse—Latest Designs For All Occasions Becoming and Artistic in Their Planning—Details That Are "Different" Yet Not A Bit Fussy—Pastel Colors That Stand Vigorous Tubbing and Hard Wear

By MAUDE HALL.
WITH velvet hats shown (and worn) in ever-increasing numbers a month earlier than usual it is not surprising that whisperings regarding Autumn fashions should become audible remarks. Smart women are none the less interested in modes of the moment because the return of buyers from Europe makes the consideration of Fall styles timely.

While we shall have to wait for the routine openings for the majority of new ideas, alluring frocks are being translated from imported models, far in advance of the fall announcements. The most of them are being reproduced in materials of the present season, notably the voiles, crepes, satins, etc., but the originals are in the fabric groups which will play an important part in subsequent offerings. First among these are the serges, which are more beautiful than ever. Then come the tricelines, and the newer, finer silk jersey weaves. An interesting version of the Russian blouse is shown in a handsome tan tricotine frock. The front is given a panel effect by the introduction of a broad tuck on either side, while the back is in the usual straight line. The tunic is quite full—one would judge almost as full again as the tight skirt, cut so that the stripes of the material run round and round the figure. Holding in the fulness at the waist is a girdle cut so that the stripes match the skirt, while the lower edge is finished with a narrow accordion plaited frill of taffeta. At the lower edge of the tunic there is also a taffeta frill, while the round neck is finished with a plaited lace collar. Silk buttons and plaited taffeta frills finish the bare sleeves.

Black satins in black, brown and blue are represented in some very smart costumes. One developed upon extremely simple lines has the skirt gathered to a blouse which depends for its distinction entirely upon a long narrow collar of plain satin and vest of crepe georgette. Running through the center of the belt is a narrow fold of satin to correspond with the collar and this same trimming finishes the tops of capacious pockets on either side of the skirt.

Figured taffeta in self-pattern trimmed with plain satin is unusually smart for one-piece dresses. It is quite the fashion to hem the skirt with a deep band of the same material used for the collar, belt and sleeve trimmings.

Black satin testifies to the continued demand for the chemise type of frock, which is embroidered in sou-lache braid and self-girdled. A fascinating model has four narrow bands of satin running around the sides and back of the skirt, which hold in place flutings of taffeta.

In trimmings, embroidery is used most elaborately on some designs, braiding continues to be of importance, and the beaded motifs are seen again.

The vest, while it is not exactly a trimming, often offers a touch of color for the frock, and it is about evenly divided as to the use of a lingerie neckline and that of a tailored one. The same rule applies to collars and no collar. But in sleeves as many flares as are tight fitted.

The prediction is that fur will be so dear that the makers of clothes are using endless quantities of embroidery to take the place of fur trimming. The embroidery is done by hand in the same shade as the dress material and the extremely heavy embroidery silk is used. Redingote effects, with their long slender lines, are leading all others at this time.

TODAY—"Kenilworth," by Sir Walter Scott.

SCOTT III.

The Scott Memorial Monument in Edinburgh.

Sir Walter Scott's struggle to pay his debts was as heroic as anything in his most heroic novel. He was 55 years old when the printing firm in which he was a secret partner failed and left him responsible for debts of $650,000. His wife died a few weeks later; he himself faced a probable mental breakdown, as he had had a slight attack of aphasia, an inability to remember the meanings of words. Yet he refused to go through bankruptcy, although he had no part in incurring this mountainous debt. All that he asked from his creditors was time. This secured he buckled sternly to his task.

He wrote, doggedly and well, if not with the old fire. In two years he had paid off more than $200,000. To make money more quickly he turned from novels to a "Life of Napoleon," which brought him nearly $100,000.

His mind began to fail, but he struggled on. "Countess Robart Paris" and "Castle Dangerous" were written after paralytic shocks. Racked by physical sufferings and with hardly more than half a brain, he so devoted himself to work that within five years more than half of the great debt had been paid.

His last year was made happy by a merciful hallucination. He conceived the idea that he had paid every creditor in full. About $250,000 actually remained unpaid at his death, but this was reduced by insurance to $150,000. This, too, was paid from copyrights and 15 years later the last claim was discharged. He had paid in full by his own unaided labor.

KENILWORTH

By Sir Walter Scott

(Condensation by Rev. Dr. R. Perry Bush, Chelsea, Mass.)

There could be no fitter setting for a story of love and tragedy than that afforded by the court of England during the reign of Elizabeth.

It was the heyday of gorgeous costuming and an age saturated with the occult. Everyone patronized the astrologers and the alchemists. The queen coupled with the dignity and strength of the monarch the foibles of weak. It was her policy to play one favorite against another and thereby secure the working of her own strong will, but she often gave to furious temper and she was most susceptible to flattery. She was forever undecided between her duty to her subjects and her attachment to Robert Dudley, the Earl of Leicester, whom it was commonly reported that she really intended to marry, for he was a courtier par excellence, and his ambition to share the throne overpowered every other purpose of his life. He had, however, been secretly wedded to Amy Robsart, and so to further his chances to be king, he consorted with one Richard Varney, and plotted the murder of his wife, which was accomplished at Abington Manor.

These threads of fact, with many others of fancy, Scott wove into the fabric of "Kenilworth." To him who would listen to those who make fulsome compliment and laudation a fine art—to one who would understand the subtle poisoning of the mind by insinuation—to such as are interested in the machinations of men and women anxious to mingle in high society—to all who would be regaled by the conversation of lords and ladies and have unfolded for their edification a phase of history which never appears in the text books of our schools, at the same time that they are reading a romance of wonderful interest and plot, "Kenilworth" offers a rare wholesome treat.

The story opens at an inn kept by one Gosling, whose nephew, Michael Lambourne, a swaggering drunkard, returns after years of absence and finds that Tony Foster, an old crony who lighted the fires when Latimer and Ridley were burned, is keeping guard over a beautiful woman at Cummer Mansion. Lambourne gains admission there, accompanied by Tressilian, a knight of peerless character, who is in search of her to whom he has been betrothed and who has been lured away from her father's house. Lambourne becomes an accomplice in crime with Foster, and Tressilian meets the mysterious lady, who proves to be none other than Amy Robsart, for it was she who was his promised bride.

He tries to persuade her to return to her father, but in vain, and in attempting to escape from the premises he meets Richard Varney, master of horse to Leicester, a shrewd calculating villain, who is a constant spur to the earl's ambition to be king.

Tressilian naturally concludes that Amy is this fellow's mistress, and, drawing his sword, overcomes and would have slain him but for the timely arrival of Lambourne, when he was obliged to flee, and, knowing the queen's interest in such affairs, he resolves to obtain her intervention in Amy's behalf.

And here Scott makes use of a superstitious bent of the age. Tressilian's horse loses a shoe and a blacksmith cannot be found until an imp of a boy leads the way to a mysterious farrier, named Wayland Smith, who is thought by those who know him to be an emissary of Satan and who turns out to be an alchemist with a laboratory underground, and who is persuaded to enter the employ of Tressilian and with him visits Sir Walter Robsart, who signs a warrant of attorney to help to secure Leicester's powerful influence in persuading the queen to free Amy from Varney.

Tressilian and Wayland soon after this make visit to Lord Sussex, when he, for a seeming discourtesy to the queen's physician, is called to court for explanation, they accompany him.

The depicting of this trip to Greenwich is fascinating. The obsequies to royalty; the first step in the queen's physician, is called to court for explanation, they accompany him. The depicting of this trip to Greenwich is fascinating. The obsequies to royalty; the first step in the queen's physician, is called to court for explanation, they accompany him.

Here is a problem! Amy will never consent to be received as Varney's wife. She must somehow be detained at Cummer!

It resolves into a battle of the alchemists. Demetrius, in Varney's employ, prepares a drug for Amy, but Wayland, as Tressilian's servant, enters her apartments as a peddler and provides an antidote for the poison. He also apprises her of the enemies by whom she is surrounded and with him she flees from Cummer.

The time of the great carnival at Kenilworth is near at hand. Multitudes are on their way thither. Every avenue of approach is crowded. Wayland and Amy attach themselves to a group of strolling players, and after many interesting experiences, reach the castle where she is by chance lodged in a room in Mervyn's Tower, which had been assigned to Tressilian.

Here she writes a letter to Leicester, beseeching him to come to and, after tying it with a true knot of her hair, intrusts it to Wayland to deliver, but it is stolen from him.

Meanwhile Tressilian has occasion to return to his room, and is dumfounded to find Amy there; but as the expected Leicester would come in answer to her letter, she bound Tressilian not to speak or act in her behalf for the next 24 hours, and he departed to witness the coming of the queen. According to history it was a wonderful preparation that Leicester made for the reception of Elizabeth at Kenilworth. Money was lavished without stint, and the details of pomp and pageantry gleam vividly before us, touched by the descriptive genius of Scott. At Warwick there is music, a salvo of smaller arms, a round of artillery and a roaring welcome by the multitude. The cavalcade is illuminated by 200 waxen tapers, borne by men on horseback.

The queen is adorned with countless jewels and attended by the ladies of the court and valiant knights magnificently attired, among whom Leicester glitters like a golden image. The procession advances over a bridge built for the occasion, and here the courtiers dismount; a floating island reaches the shore and the "Lady of the Lake" announces that this is the first time she has ever risen to pay homage, but she could not refrain from obedience to her gracious Majesty. Then as the queen enters the castle, there is a discharge of fireworks, new and wonderful in that age and she moves on through pageants of heathen gods and heroes of antiquity to the great hall, which is hung with gorgeous stiken tapestry, where she is seated by Leicester upon a royal throne, who after kissing her hand and eulogizing her most profusely, retires and shortly reappears apparelled from head to foot in dazzling white.

The queen very shortly after sends for Varney, and asks why his wife presumes to disobey the mandate of her sovereign and absent herself from the festivities, he replied that she is indisposed and presents certificates to that purpose. These Tressilian madly asserts are false, but remembering his promise to Amy to keep silent for 24 hours, he halts and stammers and the queen orders Raleigh to place him under restraint. Then follows the banquet, served upon a most magnificent scale and at its close Varney seeks Leicester, assures him that the stars promise that he shall marry the queen, and he also notifies him that Tressilian has a mistress in Mervyn's Tower.

From here events hurry to a climax. The next morning Amy escapes from her room and is in hiding near the pleasure, when close at hand Leicester avows his love to Elizabeth, and is given great encouragement; but as they separate, the queen discovers Amy, who declares that she is not the wife of Varney, and that "Leicester knows all."

Accordingly she is hurried to the presence of the earl, where Elizabeth rages violently, but Leicester's marriage remains still unrevealed, and Amy is thought to be insane and she is placed in custody. Moreover, Leicester is angry with Amy, for coming to Kenilworth and exposing him to the resentment of the queen, and he resolves to see her and insist for the present she must consent to be known as Varney's wife.

This proposition is scornfully refused. Amy no longer a child, but with the strength of injured womanhood, calls upon the earl as a man and as her lawful husband to take her to Elizabeth and acknowledge that she is his wife.

Leicester yields to this masterly plea to his honor and prepares for the ordeal; but Varney, clearly perceiving that this involves his own personal ruin, concludes that "either he or Amy must die," and is not slow in deciding which it shall be. He persuades Leicester that Amy is conniving with Tressilian and so convinces him of her perfidy that the finally consents to her doom.

That evening Leicester and Tressilian meet. The latter still believes that Varney holds Amy in his power and he begins to plead for her; but his words and motives are misinterpreted. Swords are drawn and they do battle, but are interrupted and meet again on the morrow in a scheduled spot, when, just as Leicester is about to prevail, his sword is seized by the young rascal, Dicky Smudge, who delivers to him Amy's letter, which he had stolen from Wayland. The tangle of affairs is unravelled and Amy is proclaimed as the Countess of Leicester.

At this revelation Elizabeth is beside herself with rage, declaring that "Leicester's stolen marriage has cost her a husband and England a king."

In the violence of her chagrin and anger she forgets for a while her royal dignity and recovers command of herself only when Lord Buteleigh warns her that "such weakness little becomes a queen." Meanwhile Varney fatally shoots the drunken Lambourne and conducts Amy to Cummer, where she is confined in Foster's bedchamber, a mysterious room reached by a drawbridge, which she is admonished never to attempt to cross; but when Tressilian and Raleigh come to take her to Kenilworth and she hears the sound of their horses' hoofs, she thinks it is the earl and rushes from her room and a Varney has so manipulated the drawbridge that she falls to her death. When, however, this villain learns how matters have developed, he commits suicide. His alchemist is found dead in his laboratory and Tony Foster disappears and his skeleton is found long afterward in a secret chamber where he hid his gold. Leicester retires from court for a season, but is again a favorite in waiting upon the queen and dies at last by taking poison he had designed for another.

COST OF LIVING TO STAY HIGH LONG TIME

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—The cost of living is likely to stay high for a long time to come in the opinion of the Philadelphia Board of Trade. This view is a result of a compilation of statistics from many lines of trade and industry.

According to these figures the advance in prices in this country since 1914 has been about 107 per cent. In Canada 115 per cent, Great Britain 133 per cent and France 235 per cent. It is pointed out that, in spite of material reductions in the price of steel, the advance in other commodities since the armistice has been so great that the average price schedules have been reduced but 5.7 per cent below prices prevailing Oct. 1, 1918.

The following are given as reasons why wages will not be much less for a considerable period of time.

Practical stoppage of immigration since 1914, deprived this country of several millions of workers who would normally have come to us and thus have relieved the labor shortage which confronts American industry upon the resumption of capacity operations.

Retention in the government military service of nearly 2,000,000 workers, which, it is declared, will doubtless continue an indefinite period.

Creation of new industries such as shipbuilding, manufacture of chemicals and dyes.

Urgent demand for building and construction of every class due to their having been forcibly held back for several years.

Shortage of world food supplies and uniformly high prices proportionately higher levels of commodity prices existing throughout Europe.

The Wisconsin Industrial Commission has set a minimum wage rate of 22 cents an hour for experienced woman workers which, figuring a 55-hour week, amounts to $12.10, and a rate of 18 cents an hour for learners for a six months' period, amounting to $9.90 a week.

Miss Fern Bauerfeld, of Coffeyville, Kas., is said to be the only woman car distributor and tracer in the United States. She is in the employ of the Missouri Pacific railroad and has a territory of 500 miles in the wheat and corn belts of Kansas.

VAN WERT, July 29.—Delmar Palmer, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Palmer, of east of the city, met his death in the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool. It is believed that his death was caused by an attack of heart failure while in the water.

Immediately after the boy's body was recovered from the water the services of five physicians were almost immediately enlisted in an effort at resuscitation but their work was unavailing and after an hour's work it was determined to operate and make an attempt to putrate his heart mechanically. This was done at the hospital, but the effort was unavailing.

ST. MARYS, July 29.—The Carter Creek school St. Marys township, is re-established. The decision to continue the school session was reached at the regular meeting of the St. Marys township Board of Education. It had previously been decided at the May 31st meeting, to discontinue the Carter Creek school and consolidate the same with the Peppo school. Strong opposition to the plan developed among Carter Creek district citizens. A petition in favor of continuing the school was circulated and was signed by nearly all the district families having children of school age. They showed a sufficient number of pupils to justify, having a separate school.

FAUROT—BILLIE BURKE

As Annabelle, the demure and whimsical heroine of "Good Gracious Annabelle," which opened at the Faurot this afternoon, the attractive star of the screen version of the Kummer stage play fits as neatly into the part as she does into the numerous fetching gowns she wears. And trust Billie Burke when it comes to frocks and fashions. Although so much of the humor of the original was in the dialogue, enough witty remarks have been retained in the subtitles to help the picture greatly. The amusing situations are all there and several new ones have been added. There is an air of good breeding about the story and the persons in it, and the Paramount production does this feature full justice. Classed as a society comedy it lives up to its name. The spectator who wants anything approaching red-blooded drama will get but a taste in the opening scenes. Events move along smoothly and Billie Burke is so charmingly irresponsible about spending her friend's money and forgetting to mention she had a husband somewhere that most on-lookers will be satisfied to take her and the picture at a good entertainment valuation and no questions asked about the probability of things. With Clare Kummer and Billie Burke as author and star and a fine comedy charmingly presented for the solid attraction, "Good Gracious Annabelle" is one of Paramount's big cards.

Added features of the bill include the Pathe News and Mack Sennett's new comedy, "Love's False Faces." Again tonight and tomorrow.

Then he understands Vibert's interest. They both find the schemer by selling him the farm at an enormous price.

NEW FORM OF U. S. S. SAVINGS

Arranged For Purchasers of $100 of War Stamps.

ON SALE AT POSTOFFICES

New Thousand Dollar Certificate Also Issued—Interest and Maturity Dates Same as U. S. S. and Redeemable Upon Demand—Especially For Farmers.

Columbus, O.—(Special).—A new form of War Savings Certificates, which will add greatly to the convenience of individuals holding $100 worth or more of these securities, is being offered for sale through the postoffices and banks. The new certificates are known as Treasury Savings Certificates and are in denominations of $100 and $1,000. Their interest and maturity dates are identical with War Savings Stamps.

Just the Thing For Farmers.

The new certificates are extremely timely, inasmuch as Ohio farmers will receive the greatest sum of money in history for their 1919 wheat crop, which is estimated at 54,000,000 bushels. The government has guaranteed the farmer a minimum price of $2.20, and because of this it is estimated that many farmers will invest their profits and savings in government securities, especially War Savings Stamps and Certificates.

Very Convenient.

The principal advantage in the Treasury Savings Certificate is that the investor can procure a $100 certificate in a single piece, and at the same time have it automatically registered at the treasury in his or her name. Under the old method it was necessary to procure 200 of the stamps and paste them on a card in order to get $100 investment. For persons or organizations desiring to invest in the full $1,000 worth of War Savings Certificate, it was necessary to procure 200 of the stamps and paste them on 10 cards. This detail can now be eliminated by simply purchasing a $1,000 certificate.

Treasury Savings Certificates, which will have a cash value of $100 on maturity, Jan. 1, 1924 may be purchased during the present month for $86. On Aug. 1 these prices will advance to $84.50.

CARRIERS SELL MILLION DOLLARS IN WAR STAMPS

H. G. Cooper of Newark Holds Championship Honors For July.

Columbus, O.—(Special).—The 20 leading carriers in the War Savings Stamp Campaign among the letter carriers of Ohio have sold a total of $171,625 at the beginning of the ninth competitive week, according to the Ohio War Savings Committee. J. G. Cooper of Newark is the state leader, having disposed of $47,845 to July 5. The 50 leading carriers in the state have sold more than $1,000,000 worth of stamps.

In addition to Cooper the leading carriers in order of their sales are: A. H. Flory, Waukeon, $42,640; E. A. Keller, Chillicothe, $39,400; A. L. Vanosdall, Ashland, $35,220; William Lutts, Jeromeville, $32,065; O. E. Brumfield, Wellston, $20,440.

PUPILS AFTER $100 SALES OF WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Columbus, O.—(Special).—The period between July 21 and Aug. 9 is to be known as "The Vacation Thrift Committee Hundred Dollar Campaign," during which school children will endeavor to sell War Savings Stamps to $100 buyers. A special effort will be made to secure pledges for the new $100 War Savings Certificates.

School children contesting for prizes are urged to get in touch with chairmen of Vacation Thrift Committees to get instructions for entering the campaign.

Hornbill's Remarkable Nest.

Most wonderful of all is the nest of the hornbill. The hen bird lays her eggs in a hollow in a tree, and as soon as she is settled on them the male bird walls her in with clay, leaving just space for her head to stick out. He feeds her, and there she sits, not only until the eggs are hatched, but until the young are big enough to come out.

DEMPSEY WILL MEET ALL CHALLENGERS WORTH IT

Future Plans of Champ Are Somewhat Uncertain, But He Prefers Tights and Gloves to Grease Paint.

Jack Dempsey's future plans are still somewhat uncertain, but one thing the champion and his manager, Jack Kearns, wants followers of boxing to realize thoroughly is that fighting is Dempsey's main mission in life, and comes before everything, first, last and always. In an interview in the west, Jack Kearns went on record as follows:

"We have all kinds of motion picture, vaudeville and circus propositions before us. We will sift all these out and take the best offer."

"I don't mean by this that Dempsey is going to dodge the ring responsibilities of a heavyweight champion. Jack is the same type of boy as Jim Jeffries. He would rather box than wear grease paint or spangles."

"We realize that Jack has been elected to the title on the popularity ticket, and he is going to run true to these principles. The public loves a boxer who will box, and Dempsey would defend his title four or five times a year if the challengers were of a caliber to justify this activity."

THROUGH THE SPORTSCOPE

The Reds win another, but so did the Giants. Never mind, maybe Moran will catch the clan of McGraw when the Gothamites have to make up for lost time.

Cincinnati made four errors yesterday. That kinda' looks like a Lima box score.

"When Greek meets Greek, etc." The Braves whipped Philadelphia yesterday.

Saith the sage of Hawg Creek: "He who fights and falls down will live to go another round."

A one Mr. Weeks' features were surely disfigured last night.

Referee Bauman will be the third man in the ring at Dayton August 1, when Harry Greb meets Terry Keller.

Louisville finally stages a comeback and wins from the Millers.

Gerner, of the Reds, received his first chance of the season in yesterday's struggle.

Phil Douglas yesterday pitched his first game for New York, and won it.

Let's hope Mullin will be seen in action here again when he really has an opponent.

Gotta mix it to the Phils at that. Modern Verdunites. Intrench themselves in the suburbs of the National League and carol: "They shall not pass." And, by Jazz Junkies

Miske, Willie Meehan or the Boxing Kangaroo—they all look alike to us. "I don't think the public will criticize Jack for a few weeks of outside work. Look at Corbett, Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, Willard—all of these good champions made fortunes in the show game. We will work along these legitimate lines, but there will never come a day that Jack won't knock off and start training at a call from the public."

Will Join Circus.
"We will stay in Salt Lake City a short time. Jack is very anxious to be with his mother a few days. From there we will jump to Chicago, for one day, and then on to New York. One thing sure, we are going to play a week with the Sells-Floto circus. We owe this to Otto Floto, who is one of the best scouts in the world and we are going through with it. Jack will ride the elephants if they want him to."

Baker Wants Fight.
"We received a cable from Snowy Baker, of Australia, offering us $100,000 to box Carpenter. I wired back accepting the offer. Frankly, though, I don't think they can get Carpenter over there. From now on I am going to consider it a dull week when Dempsey doesn't earn $10,000."

MAYBE YOU DON'T BELIEVE THIS BUT...

An unusual incident occurred in the qualifying round of the Indiana state golf championship tournament over the Lafayette Links recently. Two of the golfers playing together found their drives at the fifth hole on the opposite sides of a cactus ring, with the prospect of a high pitch shot facing each.

Both of the players thought they were away and played their shots simultaneously. The shots were overpiched, but the balls met in midair, directly over the cup, both falling dead for 38 on a par 4 hole. Several onlookers saw the incident.

they're so blamed low you CAN'T pass 'em.

A match between Mike O'Dowd and Jeff Smith is pending decision at the Armory A. A. in Jersey City within the next few weeks.

The yapp who dubbed the Kansas City nine the "Blues" uttered more than a Madison Square monologist. Milwaukee's recent jaunt to K. C. dumped out to be an exceedingly blue junket for the Brewers.

BRENNAN OUTFIGHTS WEEKS IN TEN ROUNDS

Detroit Boy Hands the Lad From Springfield an Unmerciful Beating in Last Night's Show

Bud Fischer is Saved From Taking Sleeping Portion at the Hands of Mullin by Referee Maxwell

(By JAMES F. BURRA.)

Billy Weeks, of Springfield, who has for some time past been monarch of all he surveys in the welterweight class round these diggin's last night took one unmerciful beating at the hands of Frankie Brennan, and the second meet of the Lima Athletic club, staged at Murphy street ball yard.

After watching Weeks fight last night, we wonder how he has been getting by as long as he has, for he certainly is anything but a real fighter. Evidently he is of the opinion that as a close-in fighter he is a bear cat, but we have yet our first time to see another man made into it like this Springfield man. He simply drops his dukes and runs for a catch-as-catch-can hold.

He did it on numerous occasions last night, but just about every time he would get a foot or so away from Brennan, the Detroit lad would place a short jab on Weeks' face and it would stop him from doing any real damage. The best Weeks did was to lean on Brennan and scratch the Auto City boy's shoulder with that ever prominent brush which characterizes Weeks' map.

One-Sided Affair.

The fight was a one-sided affair from start to finish, Brennan claiming all for his own. It was simply a case of Weeks being outclassed from start to finish. Brennan fought a swift, clean battle, watching every opportunity, and making every opportunity count. In the first round

Weeks stopped one of Brennan's jabs with his nose. The back on this organ was slightly peeled.

In the third spasm Brennan planted another right jab on Mr. Weeks' left eye. Later he tormented both of these wounded members, then becoming tired of picking on cripples, he closed the Springfield man's right lamp. Toward the last of the battle, Weeks did little except lie on Brennan. Fans became very tired at this, and shouted for Weeks to stand up and fight like a man.

During the entire fight Weeks did not score over five safeties on the Brennan boy's face, and his body blows had absolutely no effect on the Detroit boy.

Referee Maxwell's action in the third round of the windup was the only thing that saved Bud Fischer, another Springfield battler, from being issued the sleep portion by Hope Mullin, Muncie, Ind., fighter. The first round of this bout very well, Fischer bounced his glove off Mullin's dial a couple of times, but the big man from Indiana never even bobbed his head, and stuck out his face for more. This appeared to discourage Fischer.

Mullin drops Fischer. In the second round Hope speeded up a little, and forced the fight to Fischer's corner. Over there he tapped the Springfield lad on the body with a left, and then made a short right-handed jab which caught Fischer on the point of the chin. Fischer went down like a ton of brick, and for a second or two stared at the sky.

At the count of nine he arose to his pins, but his knees were wobbly. Mullin made another pass at him, and the breeze from it caused Fischer to fall again. The going sounded while he was down. The third opened, and Fischer, as white as a sheet, came from his corner, but all fight in him had gone. He went down twice more, and the fans shouted for Maxwell to stop the mill. Maxwell complied with the request.

Mullin Is Clean.

This man Mullin is as clean a bat-

Whitey Clark is Substituted for Jack White, and Young Gross, Holds His Own With Him

Happy McHenry and Wop English Will Stage Main Bout Here at Next Show on August 11

After as ever stepped into any ring, and last night gave Fisher all the show in the world for his white alley. If this Hoosier would only secure a little speed he would be a beater. He takes a wonderful lot of punishment, and it doesn't even faze him.

Young Gross Holds Own.
In the preliminary, Young Gross, local fighter, met Whitey Clark, still another Springfield man. Gross was to meet Jack White, but this had become undisposed at the last moment and Clark was substituted. This bout was nearer a draw than anything else. Clark is a veteran of the ring, while the local lad is only a corner. However, Gross held his own with the Clark county boy.

McHenry-English Go Home.
Before the fight last night, announcer Morton introduced Rolly Widener, new matchmaker for the L. A. C., and stated a wonderful card had been arranged for August 11. Happy McHenry will meet Wop English, of Toledo. Wop English, it will be remembered, is the lad who put Walter Wendt to sleep in the first session at Toledo, July 4. As a semi-final for this August 11 show, Tommy Teague and Tommy Garry have been secured.

A communication from Cal Delaney, Cleveland boxer, was received last night and read to the fans. This lad wants to meet the winner of the McHenry-English go. It is probable he will be given this chance, officials of the L. A. C. last night stated.

Jimmy Coffey, the California promoter, on his way back from home from this city after the big fight, stopped off at Philadelphia and had a talk with Phil Glassman, manager of Lew Toddlar, the crack Philadelphia lightweight, in regard to Toddlar meeting Leonard in a bout in New Jersey. Nothing came out of it, however, as Glassman wants the fight to be staged in Philadelphia, where the contract according to Glassman, will draw $50,000.

KILBANE AND BRITTON CONTINUE TO HOLD ONTO THEIR CHAMP'SHIPS

Fox and Kid Lewis Were Unsuccessful in Their Attempts To Separate Champs From Titles

JERSEY CITY, July 29.—Jack

Britton of Chicago, welterweight champion, easily defeated Ted "Kid" Lewis of England, former title holder, in an eight round bout here last night. Britton earned the honors in every round except the first.

Each man weighed 145 pounds. Britton gave an extremely clever exhibition, walking about his opponent as he landed tantalizing jabs, interspersed with left hooks.

Lewis got the jump in the opening round, rushing to close quarters and landing hard blows, but in the remaining rounds his efforts were wild and ineffective as Britton both out-fought and outgeneraled him.

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—John Kilbane, featherweight champion, had a shade the better of "Joey" Fox featherweight champion of England, in a fast six round bout at National League park last night. In the second round Fox was staggered by left hooks and a right cross, but he held his feet.

The fight was fast and rough at the start. Kilbane did most of the leading and was the aggressor until the sixth round when Fox forced the fight.

The Englishman covered well and proved himself a clever boxer.

POP GEERS WILL DRIVE BINLAND

Hedrick's Injuries Will Not Allow Him to Pilot Favorite

COLUMBUS, July 29.—One of the big programs of the week is offered for today's Grand Circuit card. Two stakes are billed, the feature being the S. and S. 2:11 trot, purse $3,000, in which Mr. McGregor, the Great Mignolia, Peter Coley and other good ones start.

The other stake is the Nell House 2:06 trot, purse $3,000. In this event Royal Mac, Wilkes Brewer, Heir Reaper, The Toddler, Mack Forbes, Prince Lorce and Peter June will start.

The 2:20 trot and 2:11 pace are the class events. It is announced that "Pop" Geers will drive Binland, 2:03 3-4, in tomorrow's 2:04 trot. Frank Hedrick, who was injured at Toledo, is unable to drive the stallion.

One of the oldest suffragists in the United States is Mrs. Charlotte N. Pearce, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Pearce is one of the last survivors of those who attended the historic woman's rights convention at Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848.

WATER WORKS MEN THREATEN STRIKE

NOTIFY DIRECTOR COUNCIL MUST ACT ON PAY INCREASE

Metheany Favors Raise But Thinks Demand Made Too High

SUBMIT A SCHEDULE

Will Wait Until After Next Session of Council Then Quit

With all its other troubles, Lima may now experience a shutting down of the water works, as Service Director Metheany, Monday afternoon received word from employees of that utility, to the effect that if their requests for higher wages is not complied with the day following next council meeting, they will walk out, according to information received from the service director.

Employees of the water works are asking the following wages: Chief Engineer, $175 per month; operative engineer, $142 per month; firemen, $115 per month and helpers 45 cents per hour. At present the chief engineer receives $125 per month, and the operative engineer, $100 per month.

Service Director Metheany says, while he is of the opinion the men are entitled to some increase, he thinks the one asked for is out of reason. At council meeting of July 7, a petition from the employees was presented to the body, asking that the increase be considered when appropriations were made. The matter was referred to the finance committee, and that was as far as it went.

The employees waited until they thought council had time to consider the petition, then a communication directed to the service director was sent. Metheany, Tuesday stated, he referred the latest communication to the finance committee, and it is probable the matter will be taken up at the special session of council this evening.

SOCIALISTS NAME BLANK FOR MAYOR

Lima socialists have again nominated Edwin Blank, attorney, as their candidate for mayor. The balance of the ticket follows:

President of council, Fred Berger, Jr.; auditor, George Willhauer; solicitor, E. O. McPherson; treasurer, George Meeks; ward councilman, first, H. S. Coats; second, Joseph Kuhn; third, Fred Berger, Jr.; fourth, G. G. Dixon; fifth, Karl Frey; sixth, John O. Miller; council-at-large, N. J. Speer, John A. Watt, D. A. Dickinson; school board, Emma Meeks, Betty Calkins.

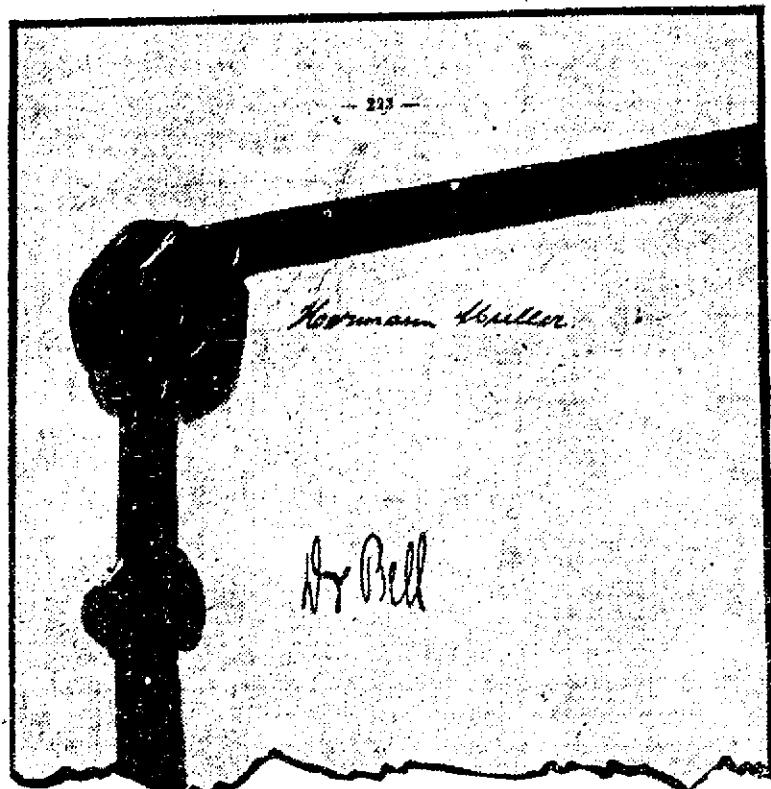

SECURE ROAD REPAIRS

After many days of persuasion, Allen county commissioners have finally gotten the Ohio State Highway commission to repair the Lima-Findlay and Lima-Spencer roads according to an announcement made by commissioners Tuesday afternoon. These roads are of the macadam type, and are full of chug-holes, commissioners say. Tuesday material arrived for the improvements, and work was begun at once. It is estimated the improvements will be completed within three weeks.

STORM DOES GREAT DAMAGE; DELAYS TRACTION TRAFFIC

Crops, Fruit and Shade Trees and Telephone Are Swept Away

WORST NEAR SNYDERS

Damage is Estimated at Fully $10,000 — Trains Resumed

The original estimate of the damage done the section, five miles south of Lima, by a storm, Monday evening, has been cut to one-fifth, according to reports received Tuesday morning from that vicinity. The storm which was at its height, shortly after 6 o'clock, Monday evening, destroyed crops, fruits and shade trees, and telephone poles, to the extent of about $10,000.

Traffic on both the Western Ohio and Ohio Electric railway companies, was delayed when 30 poles, covering a stretch of track, for nearly one-half mile were blown down. The Ohio Electric company is furnished power by the Western Ohio, and naturally was affected by the calamity, which occurred at Snyder's Crossing, on the Lima-Wapakoneta division.

Corn and oats were the principal crops destroyed by the storm. In many instances it has been discovered, corn, while blown to the ground by the wind, is not damaged to any great extent. However, fruit and shade trees were causes of great losses to their owners, as the majority of them in the path of the hurricane were blown down.

After the storm had abated workmen of the Western Ohio were sent to Snyder's Crossing, and a temporary high tension wire was put up. The first car arrived in Lima Tuesday morning, at 8:30 o'clock officials of the company said. Other than being without power as a result of these poles being blown down, the Ohio Electric company was not injured, officials of that concern today stated.

MRS. EVA COPELAND CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Eva Copeland, 65 years of age, wife of George H. Copeland, died at her home, 1413 West High street, Monday night, following a brief illness with acute indigestion. This is the third death from indigestion to occur within the past week. Mrs. Copeland is a native of Allen county, and has spent the greater part of her life in this vicinity.

Besides the husband, two sons, Frank and Ray Copeland, survive her. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Christian church, Rev. Watkins to officiate. Interment will be made in Woodlawn cemetery.

REAL ESTATE FOLKS PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Every real estate office in the city will be closed all day Thursday so that the office employees will have an opportunity of enjoying a day's outing at Orchard Island. Practically every real estate dealer in Lima, has made arrangements for the employees of his office to enjoy the day. The trip to Orchard Island will be made at 9:30 o'clock in the morning in autos.

All sorts of amusements, including swimming, dancing and games will be enjoyed, and not the least of the pleasures will be the picnic dinner. It is expected that about one hundred persons will be in attendance. Elmer D. Webb is president of the Real Estate Men's association, and S. Fishel, of Michael & Fishel, is vice president. J. J. Wyre is secretary and treasurer.

TAX TO COME OFF ICE CREAM SODAS

After a two hours' discussion in the hottest weather of the summer Monday afternoon the house of representatives yesterday decided to repeal the ten per cent tax on soda water and ice cream. News of this will doubtless be received by thousands all over the country, who have been trying to quench their thirst and at the same time endeavoring to keep cool, by drinking millions of gallons of ice drinks and consuming the ice cream.

BUYS COAL CONCERN

Paul Timmerman has completed purchase of the Peerless Coal company from I. G. Reese and Orlan Turney. The purchase includes yards, stock and equipment. The company is located at the corner of Kibby street and the B. and O. yards. Timmerman who recently returned from overseas will operate the business.

TRUSTEES BUY STAMPS

At a meeting held late Monday afternoon sinking fund trustees voted to purchase $1,000 worth of War Savings Stamps. This makes about $4,000 worth of the Baby Bonds purchased by this body. Bids from banking institutions who desire to become the depository of the sinking fund for the next three years will be advertised for in the very near future. No other business out of the ordinary was transacted at the meeting.

OFFICERS AND ALL MEMBERS OF LIMA REAL ESTATE WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY TOMORROW OUTING AT ORCHARD ISLAND.

SPECIALIZING

LIFE is too short to learn more than one business well. For this reason many men of high standing in business, profession or trade are not so successful in the selection of investments.

Lack of time prevents them from making a thorough study of the question, resulting often in the placing of money where the security is not of the best.

Securities may go up or down and most investors cannot afford to take chances; even if well protected it is very inconvenient to have funds which may be needed on short notice tied up in long time maturities.

The Allen County Savings & Loan Company, in the Savings Building, solves these problems by paying five per cent interest on large or small deposits and offers the very best security and the greatest convenience.

This Company makes loans on real estate mortgages knowing that "the best security on earth is the earth."

ATTACKS CHARTER COMMIS'N

If a petition filed by Attorney Ed. Blank is allowed, the Lima Trades and Labor council's candidates for writers of the proposed new charter for the city.

The petition filed by the attorney sets out that it was necessary for the Chamber of Commerce's Committee of 200 to file with their candidates for charter formers a petition signed by one per cent of the voters of the city. This, Blank says, was not done, and he contends therefore these men, if elected, could not legally perform the work and that any charter they might form would be necessarily illegal.

The matter will have to be decided by the court of appeals.

COUNCIL WILL ACT ON COMMISSION ELECTION PROPOSAL

To repeal the ordinance calling for a special election on August 12, for the purpose of letting voters decide whether or not Lima is to have a municipal form of government, and to consider the advisability of passing new legislation allowing the question to come at the regular election, November 1, city council will hold a special session Tuesday evening.

After due consideration, legal rights of the city have come to the conclusion that the special election may not be held with the August primary owing to the fact that 60 days can not pass between the time the legislation was drawn until the election.

In the event the commission form of government is desired by the people, and it carries at the regular election it can not become effective until January 1921, officials say. If a person is elected to office he may not be ousted even though the commission form of government carries, they say.

Engineers of the Lake Erie and Western railroad company, have drafted and presented to City Engineer Miller new plans for the viaduct over the Lake Erie tracks at Metcalf street. This is the set of plans submitted to the city by the railroad company. The first called for 24 foot roadway, and this one for a 26 foot driveway and five foot sidewalk.

City Engineer Miller will present the new plans to council this evening for his approval or disapproval. The Collect street and Askings sewers will be considered by council this evening, and new legislation for them will be drawn.

TOLEDO STREET CAR MUST QUIT AUG. 1ST COUNCIL DECIDES

TOLEDO, O., July 29.—The city council last night refused to rescind its order directing the Toledo Railways and Light company to vacate the streets, beginning Thursday, and today merchants and manufacturers in the fear of a serious situation, are circulating a referendum petition to hold up the ouster ordinance and force it to a vote of the people.

With the city threatened with a complete tieup after tomorrow, business interests are generally alarmed for no means have been provided to afford transportation.

The company at last night's meeting submitted a proposed 25-year franchise, based on the Taylor cost plus plan, but the council took no action on this, immediately referring it to a committee.

In the franchise the company proposes to return to the former fare of five cents, penny transfer. The company recently raised the fare to six cents, two cents for a transfer, and it was because of this that the ouster ordinance was passed.

A large crowd was on hand at the council meeting and cheered the refusal of the councilmen to rescind the ouster order.

FIRE BURNS ROOF

Fire thought to have been caused by a spark from a locomotive engine, burned the roof of Samuel Winegardner, 433 North Washington street shortly after 12 o'clock Tuesday. Roof covering two rooms was burned. Damage amounted to about $250, which is covered by insurance. The house is the property of Dr. R. D. Kahle.

ADMITTED AS DENTISTS

Robert D. Sullivan and Donald H. Sullivan, sons of Dr. D. H. Sullivan, Lima dentist, and Walter A. Geiser, 939 N. West St., were awarded certificates by Ohio State Dental examiners Monday. The three attended the University of Cincinnati, where they graduated in June.

"JUDGE" DICTIONARY SETTLES DISPUTES

New Words Are Defined in Work Offered Readers of This Paper

In case of doubt concerning the meaning of a word the dictionary is the court of appeal to which the ardent individual must resort. When Dr. Johnson compiled his celebrated dictionary, offered to the public in 1755, it represented a movement initiated by Swift, Addison, Pope and other noted English writers of that period to compose a dictionary that would fix forever and unalterably the English language in one perfect form. But the lapse of years has demonstrated that fashion in words change with the times and that a dictionary to be authoritative and accurate must be up to date.

A popular demand for such a work has been answered by the offer this paper is making to its readers of the New Universities Dictionary in which thousands of words not found in any other dictionary are fully defined. Many of these words have been brought into general and proper use by the great strides made in science, business, religion and the various arts. Specialized activities, such as aviation, golf, baseball and other forms of sports have also given currency to many new terms and definitions of which will be found in one or the other of the twenty-five supplementary dictionaries that have been incorporated in the New Universities Dictionary.
